BOUNDARY LINES OF TWO STATES

Long-Standing Issue Between Maryland and Virginia.

DISPUTE NEAR . END

Was Considered at Alexandria and Mount Vernon at Close of Revolutionary Conflict.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The long dispute between Maryland and Virginia over the boundary line between the two states in the Potomac river, involving also the regulation of the oyster season on the lower Potomac, seems to be nearing an end. An agreement was made possible by the acts of legislatures of the two states last year. Among the steps then taken was the appointment of commissioners by the two States to confer and reach an agreement if possible. The two commissioners are clothed with plenary powers.

The Maryland commissien is preparing to meet the Virginia commission and to enter into negotiations looking to the settlement of the long controversy. The two commissions will meet on the Potomac river.

When the war of independence over threw British sovereignty and the colonies became states, each was free to do as it chose in matters of commercial regulations, and discordant action caused troublesome complications.

General Washington was president of the Potomac Company, and predecessor of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, and it was a matter of direct concern to the plans of that company that there should be an agreement between the two States in regard to the navigation of the Potomac and the Chesapeake Bay. In 1785 commissioners appointed by the two States were to meet at Alexandria. General Washington invited them to his residence Mount Vernon. There in his parlor was framed "the compact of 1785," modification of which is the purpose of the negotiations now going on.

When the long dispute between Maryland and Virginia over the boundary line was settled in 1877 by the award of an arbitration commission it was decided that the dividing line between the two states is at low water mark on the Southern Shore.

Thus the Potomac river throughout its entire length between Virginia and Maryland belongs wholly to Maryland and yet Maryland is restrained by the compact of 1785 from legislating in regard to fishing rights in the Potomac except by the consent of Virginia, as otherwise the law is practically void.

The result is the Potomac River has become a "no man's land," where people may fish or oyster in season or out of season without liability, and when an illegal cargo of oysters is overhauled anywhere in the bay the ready excuse may be offered that they come from the Potomac.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Thirty-five hundred men perished in the seven constitutionalists' attacks on Torreon, Mexico, between July 17 and July 28, and since that time fever has become epidemic, food is scarce, and no relief has been able to reach the city. The constitutionalists are declared to have lost 3,000 men, most of them in a disastrous attempt to flood the city by diverting the course of Nazas river from its headgates through the valley. They were caught in a crossfire from federal machine guns. They withdrew to Durago. The federal loss was about 500.

A meteor fell into the Seaconnett river at Tiverton, R. I., yesterday, churning up the waters in a spectacular manner. Great volumes of steam arose. The meteor fell during an electrical storm. The crash, resembling thunder, was heard for a distance of 20 miles. In the immediate vicinity windows were broken and crockery shaken from shelves, while at Island park, nearly 2 miles away, a merry-go-around was jarred into motion. Persons who saw the meteor assert that it was of unusual size, and traveled so rapidly as to appear from a short distance almost like a flash of lightning.

Halted in their plans for a demonstration in front of the factory of Schloss Bros. & Co., clothing manufacturer, High and Gay streets, Baltimore, early yesterday afternoon, nearly 200 members of the Industrial Workers of the World—many of them striking employes of Schloss Bros.—gave battle to a small detail of police, and riot was rife for nearly an hour. The strikers picked a time for their demonstration when they knew there would be but few policemen in the vicinity—the time when the parade of the colored Knights of Pythias was passing along the downtown streets, and nearly all of the policemen were stationed along the route. Nine arrests were made.

Eighteen days after his mother's death from hydrophobia, as the result of having been bitten by a family cat, John Miller, 11 years old, who was bitten at the same time, died in Philadelphia yesterday from the same malady. Six weeks ago the cat suddenly went mad, sprang upon the boy, and fastened its teeth in his foot. The boy's mother jumped to his aid and the feline sank its fangs into her arm. The boy's father caught the cat by the throat and was compelled to choke it to death before it would release its hold. Five days afterward Mrs. Miller showed signs of hydrophobia and died on August 10, but the boy did not show any ill effects of the bites until Wednesday.

A feud born in the mountains of Roumania was fought to a bloody finish in the streets of Indiana Harbor, Ind., yesterday, and five men are dying from knife wounds as a result of the battle. Those of the wounded men who are able to speak refuse to give any account of the fight or its cause. Their countrymen are equally reticent, beyond stating that the battle was the outcome of a Roumanian feud.

A coroner's jury in New York yesterday acquitted William F. Cuff for slaying Joseph Borrandes on August 4 last while the latter was attempting to assault Miss Mary Burns, a telephone operator, on her way home form work in the early morning. Cuff, a stranger to the young woman, responded to her cries for help, and knocked Borrandes down. The man died later of a fractured skull. The jury brought in a verdict of justifiable homicide.

A section of the largest department store of Peterboro, Ontario, run by J. C. Turnbull & Co., collapsed without warning yesterday, killing five persons and injuring nearly a dozen others. Due to interior alterations, the walls had weakened. A hundred workmen, clerks, and shoppers went down in the crash.

The first fatal accident to happen on the Ohio ranges at Camp Perry, Ohio, occurred yesterday when Francisco Zegarra Ballon, of the Peruvian team, was killed by one of his fellow-countrymen, Juan E. Zegarra, who accidentally pulled the trigger of his loaded rifle.

APPLICATION GETS A SETBACK

Movement to Oust Commissioner Newman is Denied.

HEAR CASE MONDAY.

Petition for Quo Warranto Proceedings Presented by Former Senator J. W. Bailey.

Washington, Aug. 29.—An application to institute quo warranto proceedings to test the right of Oliver P. Newman to hold the office of District Commissioner was denied today by Justice Wright, of the District Supreme Court pending arguments in oppositon by counsel for Mr. Newman.

The petition was presented by Senator Joseph W .Bailey, A. A. Birney and William J. Neale, in behalf of W. J. Frizzell, who alleges that Mr. Newman is ineligible because he was not a resident of the District for three consecutive years immediately preceeding his appointment.

Attorney Jackson A. H. Ralston opposed the motion for permission to file proceedings, and argued that Mr. Newman should have a right to oppose the issuance of a writ. After hearing arguments on both sides, Justice Wright took Mr. Ralston's view of the situation and said that he would allow one hour on Tuesday to hear both sides of the case.

Rumor in Washington That Colonial Beach Had Suffered From Conflagration.

A rumor that Colonial Beach had been swept by a fire was in circulation in Washington last night.

The steamer Wakefield of the Chesapeake and Potomac Steamboat Company, passed the beach about eleven o'clock last night. Everything seemed to be in normal condition at that time.

PUTS CAMINETTI IN NET.

Marsha Warrington Repeats Story of Trip to Reno.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 29.—For the first time since the story of her husband's infidelity became public property Mrs. Maury I. Diggs heard it yesterday from the lips of Marsha Warrington, "the other woman." Marsha told the same story as she did in the Diggs trial.

In the case of F. Drew Caminetti, charged with violating the Mann white slave act, as in that of Diggs, she remains the chief witness for the government, although the name of Lola Norris is the one coupled with that of Caminetti in the indictment.

Mrs. Diggs sat just inside the rail that divides the audience from the bar of the court. She listened intently, rigidly, wincing at passages of the testimony.

Concluding her testimony for the day, Marsha Warrington walked to a seat at the table of counsel for the government. Facing her as she drew near stood Mrs. Diggs at the table of counsel for the defense, staring her steadfastly in the face, with only the width of the aisle between them. The girl turned her head and looked away.

Other witnesses covered familiar ground—the brief stay at Reno, at a hotel, the renting of a bungalow, the purchase of supplies and the arrests.

Whatever the testimony of Lola Norris may be, Caminetti has announced that he will not dispute it. The prosecution has stated that it will attempt to prove that Miss Norris was pure until she met Caminetti and that it was in Reno that she yielded after promises of marriage were made to her.

Miss Norris was expected to tell substantially the same narrative as in the Diggs trial.

AN OLD STORY IS RETOLD.

Ladies' Home Journal Reproduces Account of Female Stranger.

A recent issue of the Ladies' Home Journal contains the following. While the story of the Female Stranger is ancient history to many Alexandrians, it is republished occasionally for the benefit of the younger generations:

Pilgrims to the tomb of Washington and Mt. Vernon have for generations been in the habit of stopping over on old St. Paul's cemetery, Alexandria, Va., to view there a large marble slab resting on six carved columns and bearing the following strange inscription:

TO THE MEMORY OF A
FEMALE STRANGER
Whose mortal suffering
Terminated on the 4th day of October, 1816.
Aged 23 years and 8 months.

This stone is erected by her disconsolate husband, in whose arms she breathed out her last sigh, and who, under God, did his utmost to soothe the cold dull ear of death.

How loved, how honored once, avails thee not
To whom related or by whom begot;
A heap of dust alone remains of thee—
'Tis all thou art, and all the proud shall be.
To whom gave all the prophets witness, that through His name whosoever believeth on Him shall receive remission of sins.

It was on the 25th of July, 1816 that the brig, Four Sons, bound from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to the West Indies, diverted her course in order to ascend the Potomac River, and anchored off Alexandria just long enough to land a boat there and send ashore a sick woman and her husband. The trip up the Potomac was evidently made for this special purpose, since no mail, cargo, nor other passengers were put ashore. When the small boat pulled up at the wharf it was seen that the invalid had on a thick veil, which, in spite of the heat of that midsummer day, she continued to wear while being carried through the streets to the "Bunch of Grapes," the largest tavern in the city."

After engaging the best room that the hostelry afforded the anxious husband hurriedly sent for a physician, who was, however, before being admitted to the sick room, called aside and pledged upon his honor not to reveal what he might see or learn concerning his patient. The physicians lips were sealed until his death, and the only information concerning his patient which could be obtained from him was that he had never seen her face.

She was veiled during each of his visits for ten weeks. The husband was the only nurse at the bedside, day and night,through all the enervating heat of August. But as Autumn approached he became exhausted from loss of sleep, and two Virginia ladies, guests at the hotel, were permitted to administer to the sufferer, but only after they had taken solemn oath that they would never reveal what they might learn about the mysterious invalid.

When the stranger was seen to be dying at midnight, October 3, the husband requested that only he should be left in the room, so the physician and two volunteer nurses withdrew.

A chill east wind rattled the sashes, a fine, cutting rain pattered against the windowpanes, and the two ladies with the landlord's wife shuddered as they waited outside the death room door. Finally at dawn the husband with haggered face and swollen eyes,stepped out into the hall and announced that all was over.

Then, lest some one should see the hidden face in death, the husband's own hands prepared the cold body for burial. He personally sealed the coffin lid. After attending the burial in St Paul's cemetery, and ordering the monument with its puzzling inscription, he disappeared.

For a dozen successive years he returned on the anniversary of his beloved one's death, to put fresh flowers upon her grave and see that the grass was neatly trimmed. During these pilgrimages of his devotion he was ferried directly from Washington and back, without stopping again at the Alexandria tavern or speaking to any one he met upon the streets.

But, at the end of these dozen years, he seems to have died, for his visits suddenly ceased and the grave

TAX RATES ON BIG INCOMES

Predictions That They are to Be Materially Increased.

HEAVIER EXACTIONS

Progress Made in Consideration of Measure—Lodge Opposes Increases on The Rich.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Progressive Democrats in the Senate again predicted today that the income tax rates on big incomes would be increased over the rates in the pending bill. They believe that as the result of the insurrection begun yesterday, the caucus will be forced to make the rates higher so as to impose heavier exactions on the ultrarich.

Finance committee leaders yesterday did not dare to stifle the sentiment among the Democratic Senators to increase the rates. La Follette, Cummings, Borah, and Bristow, put the Democrats in a position that made them seem to oppose heavier rates on the multi-millionaires. Under this a number of Democratic senators became restive.

The radicals had set out to circulate a petition and force a caucus when Senator Simmons and other leaders gave way and decided to call one themselves not later than Monday night.

Senator Vardaman broke away from the caucus.

Progress was made yesterday in going over the income tax provisions. About half the forty pages were read. Indications are it will take until early next week to finish with the income tax provisions.

Senator Lodge Came to the defense of the rich and opposed heavy taxation of large incomes. Senator Cummings offered an amendmenet to strike out the definition of incomes. He held the courts alone could define incomes. The amendment was lost

Senator Norris wanted to increase the exemptions on account of minor children so as to allow $500 for each child. This was lost.

Little hope is now indulged in of a vote on the bill the close of next week. September 15 is the date for final vote now regarded as probable.

SENATORS VS. WHITE SOX.

Alexandria Team to Play in Washington Sunday.

The White Sox will journey to Washington, D. C., Sunday to play the Senator baseball team at the Columbia Park. The Senators are one of the strongest teams of the District, and the White Sox expects to have its strongest team to meet them, as all of their regulars are back in the game.

L. R. Ittner the famous Alexandria star is expected to be on the mound for the White Sox, while Jones, the original will do the receiving.

With Wells, Peverill, McCarthy, V. Hicks and M. Hicks to pick the infield from, and Nalls, Coombs Williams and Poss for the outfield, the Alexandria boys will put up a game that will put old Alexandria on the baseball map.

As the White Sox are one of the favorite teams of this city a large crowd is expected to accompany them to the Capitol city to cheer them on to victory. They will leave on the 12:20 p. m. train at Columbus Street station.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Very large peaches are being displayed at the market stand of J. M. Pettit.

The Alexandria offices of the Southern Railway are being repainted and repairs are being made to the interior of the building.

There were no cases for trial in the Police Court this morning.

A few mornings ago, while Samuel Pulman, a huckster in the city market, was away from his stall, a sneak thief opened the money drawer and secured about sixteen dollars.

ADDITIONAL RESPONSES.

Friends of Alexandria Hospital Continue to Augment Repair Fund.

The managers of the Alexandria Hospital are still receiving contributions to the fund which is being used in defraying the expense of repairing the damages caused by the storm of the 30th of last month. In addition to those heretofore published in the Gazette the following are mentioned:

Woodlawn Circle, King's Daughters, ... $20.00

Mrs. Frank Hume, Alexandria county, ... $10.00.

Messrs. Weil Bros., city, ... $5.00.

The Gazette has several times called the attention of the community to the repair fund of the hospital. Generous responses have been made as is the case generally to appeals from the managers of this valuable Alexandria institution, and the aid now being given for replacing the hospital in the condition it was before the storm is greatly appreciated by all connected with the institution.

HAND LACERATED.

Police Commissioner J. Edward Shinn was painfully injured in Washington yesterday afternoon, his left hand being so badly lacerated that nine stitches were taken in the wound. Mr. Shinn is assistant foreman of the District repair shop and while working on a piece of machinery the twist drill slipped and gouged out the center of his palm. He was taken to the Casualty Hospital where his wound was dressed.

WILL RETURN TONIGHT.

Alexandria Firemen Will Reach Union Station at 10:30 Tonight.

The delegates and other members of the Alexandria Fire Department who left last Tuesday for Staunton where they attended the Virginia State Firemen's Convention, will arrive at the Union station about half-past ten o'clock tonight. Many of their friends and acquaintances will be on hand to meet them. They will bring no trophies of their visit to Staunton, however, the prizes having been secured by firemen from other places in Virginia.

It seems that our old city was ignored at this year's meeting of the association, no Alexandrian having been elected a state officer, nor does the name of any appear on committees which were appointed. The late J. R. N. Curtin was at one time president of the association, as was also John H. Trimyer, of this city.

Memorial services in memory of fire men dead within the past year were held, the chaplain conducting the religious services, and Joseph A. Glasgow, of this city, delivering the address. Captain John H. Redwood, of Richmond, was named as legislative relief committee chairman. In the afternoon all the companies in attendance with their bands joined in a parade, which was witnessed by thousands and constantly cheered.

The first prize of $75 went to the Harrisonburg Fire Department and the Daily News Band for largest and the best appointed company with band. The second prize of $50 went to Hampton Fire Department for the best company without band.

AMERICANS ARE LEAVING MEXICO

Four Thousand Have Recently Departed For the U. S.

OVER 10,000 REMAIN.

Situation Practically Unchanged—Lind at Vera Cruz But May Return to Mexico City .

Washington, Aug. 29.—Consternation has been caused among Americans in Mexico by President Wilson's message warning them to leave the country. Believing that their lives are endangered, many are abandoning everything they possess in their haste to reach safety. That there will be a general response to the advice given by the President is certain. State Department officials now believe that in two weeks there hardly will be a thousand Americans left in the troubled southern country.

During the last three weeks it is estimated that 10,000 people have left Mexico. Many had refused to consider leaving before the word came of the President's urgent advice and since then hundreds have been starting for home or abroad daily.

Just what proportion of the 10,000 Americans remaining in Mexico will need help from the Government in getting away is not definitely known, but it is believed fully 4,000 will stand in such need.

The $100,000 appropriation Secretary Bryan some time ago for aid refugees is now held to be needed immediately.

In this connection it is made known at the State Department that between 4,000 and 5,000 refugees have been aided with money or transportation since last February.

In aiding American refugees the American Red Cross has spent about $23,000, and last year trips by the army transport Buford to ports on the west coast of Mexico for the relief of Americans cost the Government about $36,000.

How complete the exodus from Mexico has been is shown by the fact that, where two or three years ago there were 60,000 Americans in Mexico, according to State Department figures, there are now only about 10,000, and it is confidently believed that there will be less than a tenth of this number within a month, unless conditions across the border improve.

President Wilson is awaiting new advices from former Governor John Lind before deciding whether to go to Cornish this evening for the week-end. If the news is favorable, he probably will leave the city about 5 o'clock, if not he will stay.

It was understood here that Mr. Lind would return to Mexico City today to resume negotiations, but the State Department is not yet advised that he is gone. There has been no confirmation of the press dispatches from Mexico City that President Huerta has sent a third note to Mr. Lind. Nevertheless, Administration officials continue to be optimistic that the negotiations will soon be resumed.

Secretary Bryan returned this morning from his lecture engagement at Newhope, Pa., and is scheduled to speak tonight at Kenneth, Pa.

Funeral services of Ethel Lee Posey were held this afternoon from 112 South Washington street and were conducted by Rev. G. A. Luttrell. Interment was in Bethel cemetery.

MUCH WANTED MAN.

Alleged Bigamist Appears to Have Operated in a Number of Places

Richmond, Va., Aug. 29.—Authorities of Durham, N. C., according to a special dispatch from that city today, are awaiting action of the Cincinnati authorities in the case of Harry A. Smith, alleged bigamist held here who will be given a hearing in the South Richmond police court tomorrow morning.

The special goes on to say that Smith is evidently wanted in a number of places, telegrams having been received in Durham within the last day or two saying that he was wanted in several cities in Georgia.

It will be recalled that Smith was arrested in Rome, Ga., some weeks ago on the nonsupport charge of his wife, formerly Miss Rosamond E. Smith, of South Richmond, whom he married in Durham last February. He was brought back to the North Carolina city, but the charge was dropped. The couple then came to Richmond.

No bigamy charge, the special states has been preferred against Smith in Durham.

The bigamy warrant which the mother of Smith's Richmond wife swore out here Wednesday night, was served on him today in the Richmond city jail.

Smith sprang something of a surprise on Special Agent Allen, of Cincinnati, Wednesday afternoon, when he very politely refused to go back to that city without requisition papers.

It developed that Mr. Allen had left Cincinnati with the assurance that no papers of this kind would be necessary. He wired to Cincinnati for them as soon as Smith balked, and they are expected to reach here today.

Smith is wanted in that city on a charge of failing to support a wife and child there.

Rev. Dr. Lilly Gives up Pastorate Next Week to Direct Laymens Movement.

Richmond, Aug. 29.—East Hanover Presbytery will meet in Richmond next Monday for the purpose of dissolving the pastoral relations of the Rev. Dr. D. Clay Lilly with Grace Street Presbyterian Church, so that he may enter upon his duties as field secretary of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Dr. Lilly plans to preach his final sermon Sunday morning. Following the action of the Presbytery the next day, he will leave the same day for Kentucky to visit relatives. He will locate later at Davidson College, N. C.

Dr. Lilly expects to spend most of his time on the road, traveling in the interest of the Laymen's Movement.

He came to Grace Street Church three years ago after being connected with this movement for several years.

Staunton, Va., Aug. 29.—Officers of the Virginia Firemen's Association were elected yesterday as follows: W. A. Walker, Portsmouth, president; H. McKay, Luray, senior vice-president; J. E. Glenn, Harrisonburg, secretary; T. J. Williams, Charlottesville, treasurer; J. J. Holt, Covington, statistician; Rev. C. H. Smith, Richmond, chaplain; John H. Redwood, Richmond, chairman legislative committee. The twenty-eighth annual convention will be held in Portsmouth.

JUDGE LAWLESS FINED.

Justice Barron Reviews Case and Declares Both Guilty of Insults.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 29.—For assaulting Editor C. R. Keiley, of the Norfolk News, Judge Joseph T. Lawless was fined $5 and costs yesterday by Police Justice Barron. The fine was paid and Mr. Keiley said he was satisfied.

"I have read the articles that brought about the assault," said Justice Barron, "and in arriving at a decision I have tried to use my best judgment as a police justice. I don't know of two grosser insults than those offered by the plaintiff and defendant in this case. The article in question accused Judge Lawless of being influenced in his decision in a case that was before his court, and such an article would naturally provoke any man in the world or raise any man's blood to the boiling point. It is true that the defendant is a judge, sworn to see that the law is upheld, but he is also human, and such an article as that referred to would cause any man's blood to boil."

"The assault upon you,' 'continued Justice Barron, turning to Mr. Keiley, "was one he thought would absolutely show his idea of such an article and of the man who wrote it. You reflected on him and he on you. I believe you would have done the same thring if he had said the same thing about you that you said about him."

When the court opened this morning at 9 o'clock it was announced that the case of Judge Lawless would be heard at noon. At this hour the court room was crowded with legal and other friends of both sides involved. It is probable that there were more lawyers present than have ever been together in Norfolk at any trial. Judge Lawless and Mr. Keiley appeared in court at almost the same time and at the rail they stood elbow to elbow.

MAD DOG IN PARK.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 29.—For the second time this season a mad dog has run amuck in Monroe Park. On Wednesday noon about 5 o'clock, when the park was filled with children, pandemonium was created by the wild behaviour of a rabid fox terrier, which ran about snapping and snarling, with foams flying from his mouth.

Some one started the cry of mad dog, and it was easy to see that there were many Marathons among the people in the park, the square being cleared in record time.

Meanwhile the dog was becoming rabid every moment. Acting Parkkeeper Moore, however, was soon on the scene, and with a few well directed shots put the animal out of his misery. One or two would-be brave ones requested the keeper not to kill the canine before they could ascertain if he was their dog by calling him by name and seeing if he would come to them.

He came all right—and the brave ones were put to the necessity of executing some rapid maneuvers to elude him, having become convinced by the manner of his coming that something was wrong.

So far as is known no one was bitten by the dog.

SAYS CHURCH IS PAGANIZED.

Dr. Davidson Will Ask Episcopal Convention to Weed Out Material Things.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 29.—"It is enough to know that the discontent is deep and widespread in the Episcopal Church and out of it—that the angel of the Lord has come down and stirred the waters," said the Rev. Charles Steele Davidson in a statement of his hopes for the future.

Dr. Davidson, on July 26th, at the gates of historic Monticello, burned his vestments and the Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal Church. He was then assistant rector of Christ Church, Charlottesville.

He is thoroughly convinced that the foundation of a great reform movement has been laid by himself and others.

"You may depend upon it that I shall have a document to offer the convention for consideration that it cannot ignore," said Dr. Davidson. "Those of us who have quit the active ministry in the Episcopal Church are not outside of God's bulwarks. Rather we are very much inside, and we are striving for a true and an active religion.

"Besides Dr. Arundel, Dr. Irvine and Mr. Richmond, Episcopal clergy and laymen have written to me from all parts of the country and there are countless others outside the Episcopal church who are waiting a real religion, and not a form. Others are only prevented from getting out by material reasons, reasons of bread and butter for their families. And right here is shown the weakness of the whole system known as the Church.

"I expect to be very busy in the future. God has given me something to do and I intend to do it. I will go straight on and be a preacher to all the church and to all the people in it, with or without a movement. God will take care of the movement. I will do my part in it.

"The Episcopal Church at its convention in October will have the chance to be a great thing. It has seldom seen its opportunity on the day of its visitation. Just now it is blinded with material things, as it has been blinded for a hundred years. It has more respect for Apostolic success. And yet it calls other churches just bodies and invites them to a conference on faith and order.

"But there is one thing it is putting just now above 'Apostolic succession and above the Bishop, and that thing is money. The Episcopal church is largely paganized. It is plastered all over with endowments and vested funds. If it were suddenly to give all of its prosperity away and throw itself in unfliching faith upon its spiritual responsibility it would save more souls in a week than it does now in a century.

"Let no man imagine that when I burned up my vestments and my prayerbook I burned up my religion. I only burned up the things that interferred with it. My religion is my life."

Opposed to Money.

THE FIRE ON THE IMPERATOR.

The fire which mysteriously broke out on the mammoth steamer Imperator of the Hamburg-American line at Hoboken yesterday morning shows that there is danger on such leviathans notwithstanding they are pronounced unsinkable and fireproof. The Imperator had been declared absolutely fireproof by her builders, and the Titanic had been declared unsinkable.

An old seaman when the Great Eastern was being prepared for her first trip across the Atlantic in the latter part of the fifties, upon hearing some inexperienced persons say they would not be afraid on such a large ship, replied "Its like a big man in a battle; large ships can and do sink."

It will be remembered that the Great Eastern narrowly escaped serious disaster on her maiden voyage to New York, she having lost her rudder in mid-ocean. There was considerable alarm on the steamer until a temporary rudder was rigged.

The Imperator nad crossed the Atlantic, having passed out of the danger zone and was at her pier in Hoboken with most of her passengers asleep when the fire was discovered. It took fire boats and tugboats several hours to subdue the flames notwithstanding they had the Hudson river to draw from. Had the accident occurred out in the ocean the fate of the greatest steamer afloat might have been written in that of the Titanic.

Death often comes from unexpected quarters. Many years ago a German steamship had been secured to her Hoboken berth after having braved the dangers of the Atlantic. The passengers were being greeted by friends upon their safe arrival and were leisurely leaving the steamer when a fire broke out on the bulkhead. The flames immediately cut off retreat from the pier and the many people on the wharf were forced to take refuge on the steamship. The latter caught afire in the meanwhile, the hawsers were burned and soon the ship was drifting in the Hudson river a roaring mass of flames.

Some persons were caught below decks and were burned to death, while numbers who jumped overboard to escape the flames were drowned.

WITHOLDING FOOD FROM THE MASSES.

The rank and file of the United States will not express much sympathy for the holders of the many thousand pounds of meat in cold storage warehouses in Philadelphia as well as the large quantities of game which has been condemned by the authorities of the Quaker City.

Some of these frozen products have been kept since 1906, and during the past seven years, when so many honest people have been compelled to eliminate meat from their menus, speculators were hoarding the necessaries of life in order that those compelled to have flesh for food would be forced to pay them their prices.

While the annals of the poor may be short and simple, when such facts as those above referred to are read, the great majority naturally want to know why a few people, whom fortune seems to hover over, should be allowed to seize and keep the necessaries of life from the masses for whom they were intended by a munificent Creator.

In some of the old countries, where the land is insufficient to support the toiling millions, meat is a rarity, and is seldom seen upon tables of the great majority. Is it to become so in the United States? Should present conditions continue, and our lawmakers close their ears to the cries of those who really make wealth in which others bask, a time may come when not only the bulk of the money will be concentrated in the hands of a few, as in the days of ancient Rome, but the necessaries of life also, while those cruelly holding nature's products will be enjoying champagne suppers and ocean excursions. There is an abundance for all in our country were the products properly distributed.

AT HOWARD'S TOMORROW.

Thrifty housewives find that they can save money by reading the advertisements of F. B. Howard & Bros., which will be found on the market basket page in today's Gazette. This young but flourishing firm is meeting with much success because they are not tied down to old fashioned methods. They believe in quick sales for cash and are willing to make their prices correspondingly low on butter, eggs, canned goods, coffees, and cheese. They are making a big reputation. Prompt delivery to any part of the city is one of the advantages they offer. x

SUDDEN DEATH.

Former Prominent Richmond Merchant Dies Suddenly.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 29.—James J. Rankin, 55 years old, prominent retired merchant, died suddenly yesterday at his home, 401 North 11th street. Mr. Rankin has been in ill health for a period of a year, but seemed perfectly himself at breakfast.

He had just gone into the bath room when death occurred.

Mrs. Rankin heard him fall and rushed to his assistance, but he was already dead when she reached his side, after breaking open the door.

Harry Bovey, 14 years old, son of William Bovey, of Williamport, Md., was killed yesterday evening by being run over by an automobile owned and driven by Claggett D. Miller, a furniture dealer. The boy was riding a bicycle and collided with the automobile as it turned a corner in Williamsport. The car was running slowly at the time and the accident, it is said, was unavoidable. Two wheels of the car passed over the boy's body.

FEMALE STRANGER.

of his supposed wife became neglected. The columns of its strange monument toppled and so remained until one spring morning when a distinguished looking old gentleman and two elderly women handsomely gowned appeared in the churchyard to order the stone repaired and the grave replanted. Under pressure of questions from the sexton these unknown visitors reluctantly admitted that they were relatives of the dead woman and that her husband had been a British officer; but when questioned more closely they hurriedly left the cemetery.

Nor would the two Virginia ladies who nursed the veiled woman at the "Bunch of Grapes," where they themselves were guests, ever say a word as to what they saw or learned in the sick room, save that their patient was very beautiful and of uncommonly high birth. Both lived to ripe old age and went to their graves with their lips sealed upon the "female stranger's" secret.

That it was the lost Theodosia Burr Alston, daughter of Aaron Burr and wife of the Governor of South Carolina, who had come to this end, was one theory, according to which the alleged husband was a pirate who had captured that distinguished lady.

Another story was that the "female stranger" was none other than Sarah Curran, the heartbroken fiance of the Irish revolutionist, Robert Emmet, and that the "disconsolate husband" was Major Sturgeon of the British navy, whom that unhappy lady was forced to marry after Emmet's death. But these theories were based on pure speculation and have gained but little credence.

IMPROVEMENT IN MARKET.

Quantity of Vegetables Greater And Quality Superior.

The market for this week shows considerable improvement over the past several weeks, rains having caused the late crops to come up in splendid shape, and vegetables are beginning to show a decided improvement in quality and quantity. New sweet potatoes are plentiful selling for 15 cents a quarter peck. Fine large Spanish onions are now displayed. They sell for 10 cents each. Fine celery of the new crop is now coming in and selling for 8 and 10 cents a bunch for the best. Green cabbage are selling at 8 cents a head. Ripe tomatoes, while not so plentiful, are fine, bringing, 13 to 15 cents a quarter peck. The late crop of this much-esteemed vegetable, promises to be large and fine for canning. Peas are practically out of the market. Of fruits, peaches lead, but the crop being very short, prices are firm. Concord grapes are beginning to arrive in larger quantities. They sell at 13 to 15 cents a basket. Watermelons are cheap, being sold as low as 10 cents; those on ice are higher. Good cantaloupes are getting scarce.

In meats the market offers a good line of the finest beef this week. For several weeks past much western beef has been on the eastern market, but the home raised cattle are now being placed on the market and home-dressed meats are, of course, considered best. Prices are about the same as during the past week. Smoked hams and shoulders have dropped from one to two cents a pound in price. Eggs have gone up, and are a cent higher than the prices of last week. The best country selling for 32 cents a dozen. Butter is firm, some dealers selling creamery for 35 cents a pound. 35 cents is the regular price however

I had not suffered very long before I took Doan's Kidney Pills and didn't really know what was the matter, but I got real bad with weakness and lameness through my back. For a few days I couldn't do my house work. I had to lie down most of the time and it was the same when I went to bed at night. Strike Ends in Riot.

Six men were shot and two probably fatally wounded in a riot at the Pope tin mill, Steubenville, Ohio, last night, when the guards fired into 2,000 strikers, who threatened to rush the mill. Twenty strikebreakers left the public square for the mill. They were accompanied by mill guards in an automobile. A crowd of strikers and sympathizers followed, jeering and yelling. Near the mill entrance threats were made by persons in the crowd to attack the plant, and several in front moved as if to carry out the threat. This was followed by a volley from the automobile. Shotguns and revolvers were used. Chief of Police Frankhauser, who was in the crowd trying to restore order, was one of the first men hit. He was not seriously wounded.
